

BEAUTIFUL BRIDE OF EGYPTIAN PRINCE IS HELD FOR HIS DEATH

French Wife in London Jail for Murder; Faces Ordeal With Stoicism

LONDON — Princess Marie Marguerite, beautiful French bride of youthful Prince Aly Fahmy Bey of Egypt, was sent to jail Tuesday for the murder of her husband.

Bedecked in huge diamonds and ropes of pearls, the princess broke down and was half carried from the prisoner's box at Bow street court this afternoon, thirteen hours after the prince, once a gay favorite of London and Paris society, was found bleeding from numerous revolver wounds in the corridor of his suite at the Savoy.

Faces Police Calmly
A striking figure against the drab background of the shadowy Bow street police court, Princess Marie maintained for hours the stoic calm with which she faced arrest. Then, as stolid "Bobbies" told their stories of the finding of the body, and these were repeated for the princess' benefit by an interpreter, she burst into tears.

The policemen told of the finding of a beaded white silk evening gown in the princess' bedroom of the Savoy suite, which the prince, his bride, a secretary, and maid occupied. There were bright red blood stains on the gorgeous creation, and beside the prince's bed, in another room, lay crushed some beads that had fallen from the gown.

Ten Years Husband's Senior
The princess, sent to jail until July 15, when she will be given a second hearing, is understood to have made a statement to the police to the effect that the shooting was accidental. She was to have gone to a hospital today, it was learned, for an operation.

Prince Aly was 22, one of British society's favorite potentates, a graceful dancer, a sportsman, and immensely wealthy. His chief treasure was his newly wedded bride, the Princess Marie Marguerite, ravishingly beautiful, ten years his senior, and famed for her violet eyes.

The love in which Prince Aly showered upon his bride were the talk of society.

It doesn't matter, but maybe the Chinese got slant-eyed seeing if their noses were shiny.
The women certainly are filling King Tut's shoes nicely.

Get Out In Open as a Motor-Camper

HEALTH HINTS

Most of the physical calamities touching the stuff, a cure should be visited on the motor-camper are the result of his own ignorance or carelessness. Dame Nature is kind to man—but he has to know how to take care of himself when fending for himself.

Water can do an awful lot of damage if one drinks the wrong kind. When on the road one must never drink water that has not been pronounced O. K. by somebody.

Spring water is generally safe to drink especially if it comes down a mountain side. Well water may be good and it may not. Before drinking it one should find out. Boiling is an additional precaution which can be taken. A good plan is to carry a jug of water in the car in case of emergency.

Thousands of people every year get poisoned by poison ivy. The remedy, if one becomes affected, is to wash the poisoned parts with several fresh solutions of warm water and soap. After this apply medicated alcohol. If attended to within 24 hours after touching the stuff, a cure should be visited.

One is apt to double up on his eating when out in the open. Consequently indigestion and biliousness make a visit and the camper gets sick. Overeating and too many fried dishes produce illness. Stewed or boiled food is much better than fried stuff.

The outdoor life and extra exercise usually do their share to keep the camper well, however, and he need use only ordinary sense in preparing his menu. Simple remedies should be taken along like cathartics, aspirin, medicated alcohol, bicarbonate of soda and the like.

The army of bugs is out to greet the tourist in the spring and summer. Black flies, mosquitoes and all the flying pests. Black flies are the meanest of the lot but infrequently met. They hate tar oil in any form or oil of citronella, consequently one of these will do much to scare them away. A smudge fire around the camp will aid. An excellent preparation for insect bites is a solution which any druggist can put up called "white wash." It has a little carbolic in it and some zinc and when applied to a mosquito bite, the bite loses its kick right away.

A first-aid kit is a sensible bit of equipment to include and may prove valuable on a journey.

PREACHES ON DRINK EVIL WITH SELF AS EXAMPLE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Arrested while preaching a sermon on the evils of liquor to a gathering of negroes, the Rev. Amen Thornton, negro pastor of a church at Johns, Ala., was adjudged drunk by Recorder Henry J. Martin and fined $5.

Thornton was arrested early in the afternoon by Officers Ellward and Wilson, who declared that although his knees had given out on him, he was continuing a sermon on "demon rum." When found, they say, he was lying on the pavement, still vigorous, by protesting against alcoholism.

N-P LEAGUE HEAD QUILTS JOHNSON IN MINNESOTA FIGHT

Arthur Lesueur Opposes Farmer-Labor Candidate for Senate

ST. PAUL, Minn.—By The Associated Press.—Dissension in political ranks, which may affect the outcome of the July 8 United States senatorial election in Minnesota, was causing concern today among various party leaders.

One of the latest "breaks" was the announcement of Arthur Lesueur, one of the organizers of the Nonpartisan league, and for many years a worker in labor organizations, that he was opposed to the candidacy of Magnus Johnson, farmer-laborite.

Lesueur said he was in favor of the principles of the farmer-labor party but he criticized Mr. Johnson for voting, while a member of the state legislature, unfavorably, according to Lesueur, on several labor questions.

RUBBER importations to the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, show an approximate total of 775,000,000 pounds, an amount equaling fully three-fourths of the world's production.

Competent authorities assert that the American automobile utilizes not less than one-half of the world's annual rubber supply.

Responsibility for advancement in the art of tire building rests solely with the tire manufacturer, but safeguarding our future needs of raw rubber—fully 70% of which is imported from countries laboring under burdensome and uneconomic tax laws and recently enacted restrictions—makes it the duty of every motorist in the United States to advocate the placing of rubber production under the American flag and in tax-free districts.

It is the patriotic obligation of every American car owner, when opportunity affords, to express approval of the efforts of Mr. Herbert Hoover, our far-visions Secretary of Commerce, who has, through Congress, secured appropriation for an already active campaign of world-wide investigation of the possibilities for an independent or, at least, a tax-free source of rubber supply.

TAGALONGS HAVE TIME THIS WEEK AT SCOUT CAMP

Boys from Nine to Twelve to Start Friday on Two Days' Outing

The boys from nine to twelve years of age will have the time of their lives if they report in front of the Elvick Building at 7 o'clock Friday morning, July 13th, for their two days outing at Camp Young Bear. Those boys will be called "tag-alongs" while at camp, and will be known as tag-alongs until they become scouts. They are to have full control of the camp for the rest of the Friday morning. On Saturday morning, at which time they will pack up their blankets and return home, they are to be home not later than ten o'clock.

Any boy wishing to go to the camp who has not a tag-along book should have his parents call headquarters and make reservation, and all boys having tag-along books should turn the book into the office and get a receipt for same, which he will present to the camp attendant upon his arrival at camp. The boys who are to be entertained for these two days should come equipped with bathing suit, knife, fork, spoon, plate, sauce dish, cup and soap bowl. They should have the necessary toilet articles, suggested: tooth brush, tooth paste, soap, comb and towel. Old clothing should be worn, for instance overalls, or any wearing apparel that can be used in the rough and tumble life at camp. The bathing suit may be only a trunk. The boys should come prepared with an old comforter and a couple blankets, or two old comforters. Parents should not hesitate in sending gold bedding because camp life is not a dress parade affair. The boy should be given some small change, not more than 20c with which he can purchase candy at the camp store.

The amount of money necessary to cover expenses for these two days of camp is $1.00, and when the boy returns, he will have wild stories to tell of Indian tales, camp fire stories, hikes, swimming, fishing and eating that will be sufficient to inspire them to carry on his ambition of becoming a better boy, a more obedient son, and eventually a better prepared candidate to become a scout.

Any additional information can be procured from scout headquarters by calling 124, from 8:30 in the morning until 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

Teacher Tells How To Train the "Worst" Kid

New York Educator Declares
Non-Existence of Really Bad Child

BY THELMA M. MELICK
Cheers by at least 15,000 of the toughest kids that ever swarmed into a schoolroom are in order today for Miss Olive M. Jones, principal of public school number 120, New York City, and the newly elected president of the National Education Association.

Miss Jones' election to the presidency of the association—one of the highest honors that can be paid an educator in this country—comes as she completes her seventeenth year in charge of probationary correction in the public schools of New York. Miss Jones, white-haired, virile, strong faced, began work when she was 18 years old. Her first teaching job was in the old seventeenth ward where her predecessor in the schoolroom had been literally chased from the building by hard boiled youngsters who roared her with a shower of shoes.

No Really Bad Children
Since that day, Miss Jones has successfully handled approximately 15,000 of New York's "worst" boys and girls and today she gave the reclamation recipe that she has used with such splendid results. She declared that a really bad boy, or a really bad girl doesn't really exist. Some mothers and fathers may dispute this statement, but their opinion is to the contrary, Miss Jones stands by her guns.

Give a boy a responsibility and keep him busy," she said.

Teach children responsibility by giving them some ways the joys and privileges of life. Never give them anything for nothing. Also when punishing a wayward boy, be doubly sure that the punishment is deserved and just.

More than one boy has been saved from pounding in somebody's skull by pounding a piece of sheet iron instead. Mix a quantity of manual training work—the kind the boys like—with book learning and reward for things well done, and badness will usually fly out of the window.

Environment and Parents Blamed
Miss Jones blames environment and not heredity for the badness in boys' children and she doesn't spare parents in laying the blame for in-credulity.

Parents are to blame for most cases of delinquency," she said. "Some fathers and mothers think that if they feed and clothe a child, their duty is done. Parents have a feeling that if they feed their children and send them to school, they will be good because they are learning reading, writing and arithmetic. Such a faulty view is about all that most of the boys who are sent to me ever get."

Don't Whip Children
Miss Jones does not believe in whipping children. Corporal punishment, she declares, only makes the average child store up hatreds. Unjust punishment, she also asserts, is far more harmful in its results than letting the guilty escape. Many youthful criminals have been created by punishments which they did not deserve. If two boys are caught fighting in Miss Jones' school they are given boxing gloves and with the physical director on the job to insure fair play, told to fight it out.

Out of the 500 or more "bad" boys sent yearly to Miss Jones' school from the other public schools of New York City, seventy-three percent of them are reclaimed to clean responsible citizenship. America's best reformatories are able to reclaim only 11 percent of their youthful inmates.

BEADED GOWNS

Elaborately beaded gowns are very smart for evening wear—georgette, crepe de chine, chiffon and Marocain being the materials on which this trimming is most popular.

Broadcloth coat dresses are to be very popular this fall, style authorities believe. Metal trimmings and touches of bright color are featured on them.

AMERICAN BABIES HEALTHIEST BECAUSE OF SENSIBLE DRESS

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK—The modern American baby has scored again!

He walks sooner, has stronger muscles and is a finer specimen physically than the baby of 50 years ago.

So says Dr. J. L. Blumenthal, director of baby hygiene of the New York department of health.

"This is because he has a sensible mother, who dresses him more comfortably than a baby was ever dressed before in the history of the race," says the doctor.

"Long dresses, swaddling clothes, and too many garments retard the normal growth, and keep the baby from the development of which he is capable."

America First

In a recent health and fashion show for babies, held in New York, foreign mothers representing Arabia, Turkey, Italy, China, Syria brought their babies in national costume to act as tiny mannequins and show how the babies of different races are clothed—and how superior the American is to them.

Though the foreign children's costumes are very picturesque, Dr. Blumenthal points out that from the point of comfort and health, the American baby is infinitely superior.

"For summer weather," he states, "the baby's outfit should consist of a hand, soft shirt, short dress and hand knit socks and booties."

"Knit coverings for the feet are approved because nothing heavy or stiff should be put on a baby's feet until he can walk, but the feet should be protected to keep the body temperature even. On hot days the socks and booties are easily slipped off until the temperature lowers."

Knitted Wool Best

"A soft knitted wool jacket is advisable for wear on cool mornings and evenings. Such a garment gives a baby adequate protection, but does not bind him anywhere and keeps his arms free so he may exercise them at will."

"After mothers come to us once or twice for advice on how to care for babies, we rarely have any difficulty convincing them of the healthfulness of such attire."

"Fancy clothes are entirely out of place in a baby's wardrobe and the sensible, modern mother knows it."

Household Suggestions

SHOE CLEANING

Every household should have a shoe cleaning outfit and the children should be taught to use it.

BLACK LACE

Wash black lace in black coffee containing ammonia—about a tablespoon to a cup of coffee.

WHITE KID GLOVES

A good way to clean white kid gloves is to place them in a jar of gasoline and let them soak, shaking the jar occasionally. When they seem to be clean, rinse them in clear gasoline and hang in the air until the gasoline odor has disappeared.

FLAVORING FOR SOUP

Use the odds and ends of beef or salt pork for flavoring for bean or pea soup.

FINAL ADJOURNMENT OF LEGISLATURE IS SET FOR JULY 17TH

Last Bills to be Sent to the Governor for Action by End of the Week

GOVERNOR NONCOMMITTAL ON
PLANS FOR EXTRA SESSION

May Recall Solons to Act on School Funds and Tax Bill

MADISON, Wis.—According to present plans the final adjournment of the legislature will take place next Tuesday. Governor Blaine had a conference with the printing board Wednesday and it was indicated that all bills would be printed by Friday noon. Arrangements are being made to transmit these bills to the governor as soon as printed and unless something unforeseen develops the legislature will probably be adjourned Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock. There are upwards of 50 bills still in the hands of the printer. It is feared to get these bills to the governor this week so that he can act on them over the week-end and be ready about a final adjournment not later than Tuesday. Both houses of the legislature have now adjourned until Friday at 11 o'clock. There is nothing of importance to come before the legislature aside from the official transmission of bills.

See Special Session

While Governor Blaine has declined to make any statement the indications are that it may be necessary to hold a special session of the legislature this fall. While there are sufficient continuing appropriations to operate university and normal schools the session may be necessary to provide some of the existing funds of the university so that the institution may be operated in an efficient manner. It is probable that the normal schools will need an additional appropriation for operating expenses. The state highway commission is now checking over the funds available for highway improvement during the coming biennium. It is estimated that should there be a special session of the legislature a request will be made for annual appropriation of $500,000 to provide a road money fund to secure the federal aid money. Figures compiled here outside of the highway department indicate that some arrangement must be made to secure needed funds for federal highway development.

To Name Road Committee

At the end of this week Governor Blaine is expected to announce the appointment of a special committee to lay out 2,500 miles of additional trunk highways in the state. There are now 7,500 miles of road in the trunk highway system. The present session of the legislature made arrangements for increasing the trunk highway system from 7,000 to 20,000 miles.

Senator Geo. Standenmayer of Dodgeville will be named as head of the committee to lay out the trunk highway. The only other member appointed on this committee announced is Richard Kunkle of Merrill, the only Democrat in the legislature. Work of laying out these ad-

MILL CITY'S PIG KEEPER GOES OVER ON 115TH ARREST

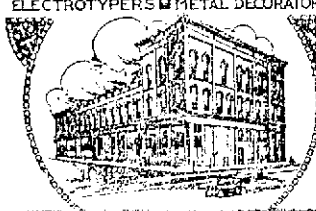

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—The Minneapolis city workhouse has lost the services of Emil Larson, "Grand Keeper of Pigs," at that institution. Larson, who has been in court more times than anyone in Minnesota and perhaps the nation, Tuesday was sentenced to a term not to exceed five years, for stealing $287 from a restaurant. Larson had served 114 terms at the workhouse for various offenses, mostly drunkenness. Each time he was assigned to care for the pigs and so became known as the "Grand Keeper of Pigs." He is 57 years old and the theft of the money was his first serious offense in his long court record, which extended over two score years.

Additional roads will be started on August 1st and the task will be completed before winter. These roads are to be distributed in all sections of the state. The state board of public affairs is compiling data for Governor Blaine on the financial conditions of the state resulting from the failure of the senate to pass the university and normal school appropriation measure. It is practically certain that should the session be recalled, Governor Blaine will submit a definite tax bill to the special session for consideration.

MILWAUKEE.—Clarence Wornson, arrested on a charge of bigamy, declared in district court here Tuesday that he alone was to blame for the condition, and was "willing to take my medicine."

For the past two years Wornson has maintained two homes, within a mile and a half of each other, and succeeded in avoiding difficulties until his second wife became suspicious and investigated, with the result that a warrant charging him with bigamy was issued.

Like Looking at the Sun

If you were to look into one of the great rotary kilns in a cement mill, you would see only a glare of light so intense that it would be like looking at the noon-day sun. For a few moments after, you would be unable to see anything.

But borrow the workman's colored goggles to protect your eyes, and peer through the peep-hole again. Then you will see a tornado of powdered coal—or gas or spraying oil—bursting into a sheet of sun-white flame. Into the other end of the kiln flow the finely ground limestone and clay—the materials for cement.

In their three-hour journey through this inferno, the materials undergo many changes. Moisture and gases are driven off as the rotation of the kiln tumbles the materials about, subjecting them to gradually increasing heat until the sun-white flame half melts the powder and it rolls into glass-hard clinker. This clinker, an entirely new chemical compound, when pulverized becomes portland cement.

Scientific control marks every stage of the burning process. Producing the required 2,500 to 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit of heat consumes great quantities of fuel—30 pounds of coal, or its equivalent, for each 94-pound sack of cement.

For the whole cement-making process, the consumption of coal is approximately 50 pounds a sack—more than half a ton of coal to a ton of cement.

Red Crown Vaporizes to the Last Drop

To use Red Crown is the essence of economy—not from the standpoint of purchase price alone but from the results earned.

When Red Crown is mixed with air in your carburetor it causes perfect combustion—this means the irreducible minimum of carbon deposit, consequently less fouling of spark plugs—it means less expense for grinding valves—it means a smoother running motor—it means little, if any, pre-ignition. When you use Red Crown either of money or energy. Every drop is converted into power—clean, sustained usable power. It is obvious that 800° of heat in your cylinder heads under working conditions is all and sufficient to burn the heaviest ends of Red Crown. That is why you get such extraordinary mileage when you have Red Crown in your tank.

INDIANS POUNCE ON MACKS FOR FIRST GAME OF SERIES

Yanks Get Breaks and Defeat Sox, 3 to 2

CHICAGO, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—The New York Giants Wednesday were in the van by four and one-half games as a result of their victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday in the first game of the most important mid-season series, just to show the visiting Pirates that they had not lost their punch five of the Giants kicked in with home runs. Kelly and Frisch making their second circuit clouts in as many days.

Manager McGraw by turning in a victory over Pittsburgh, not only held his own position, but added an old friend, Pat Moran, whose bats defeated the lowly Phillies. The result brought McGraw's team within one game of the second place Pirates. "Bunch" Henry, a south-paw who was not good enough for other major league clubs, pitched his second game for Brooklyn, scoring a 9 to 0 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Reedifications of Joe Mott and the days when he earned the sobriquet of "Iron Man" by pitching the New York Giants to two victories in an afternoon were brought to mind in Boston when the St. Louis Cardinals sent John Stuart, former Ohio State University pitcher, against the Braves. The former collegian felled with President Matt's team in the first game of a double-header holding the Boston boys to three hits. The Cardinals won handily, 11 to 1, and then Stuart went back in the second game and although hit more freely, the Cardinals won six to three.

The participation of the New York Yankees in the next world series came a little closer to being more than conjecture when the Huggins captured a three to two pitching duel from the Chicago White Sox.

Chelander, present runner up to the Yankees, indicated his position by taking Connie Mack's re-nominated Athletics to camp by a count of 4 to 2.

Kinks-o-the-Links

Player drove his ball into casual water in a hazard. The hazard was only a ditch except in very wet weather. The ball was seen to strike the water from the tee. Where the player landed the spot where the ball landed it was discovered to have been some distance away from the center in the hazard into casual water through the green. Thus the player's right to drop the ball and re-tee it was lost. Must the ball be dropped from where it entered the hazard or where the player found it in casual water through the green?

The player has a right to re-drop the ball without penalty. If the player found the ball resting in casual water through the green, he must drop it from that spot, even though he knows it first entered the casual water in the hazard.

Player tees his ball and then decides to take a couple of practice swings before driving off. His third swing struck the ground near the tee ball and caused it to drop from the tee. Is there any penalty for such a happening, the club not actually striking the ball, but the contact was sufficient to dislodge the ball from the tee? Would there be a penalty if the club actually hit the ball while the player was teeing in a practice swing?

A practice swing means nothing. The ball is not in play, hence no penalty is incurred because the stick struck the ground so close to the ball that it fell from the tee. There would be no penalty if it actually hit the ball, since the ball is not considered in play while the golfer is including in a practice or limbering up swing.

TWO DIFFERENT TYPES OF FIGHTERS IN ACTION WHEN FIRPO AND WILLARD MEET

NEW YORK.—By The Associated Press.—Two of the most widely divergent types the prize ring has ever known will swing into action with both fists flying Thursday night at Boyle's Thirty Acres, where Jess Willard and Luis Angel Firpo, will seek the right to become a challenger for Jack Dempsey's title.

Both are terrific punchers and possessors of remarkable stamina, but there the similarity between these two fighting madmen ends. Firpo, a dark haired silent son of the Argentine, is a natural fighter, a rushing savage batter, who has known no barrier to an attack that has swept him in a year to pugilistic heights. Willard, slower and at times sluggish in his ring actions, fights deliberately and chiefly on the de-

GREATER SUM SPENT FOR INSURANCE THAN EDUCATION IN STATE

Sixty-two Millions Paid Out Annually for Insurance Premiums in Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis.—That more money is spent for insurance than for education in Wisconsin was the startling statement of Phil Whitman, commissioner of insurance, before departing for Alaska early this week. Mr. Whitman declared that people pay upwards of $62,000,000 annually for insurance premiums which is more than the entire amount spent in the state for education. There are 935 insurance companies of all kinds doing business in the state.

"During the year 1921," declared Mr. Whitman, "the stock fire insurance companies collected premiums in the amount of $12,125,000 and paid out $8,228,900 in losses. The loss ratio was approximately 62 percent. This ratio is the highest loss ratio ever reported in the history of the department. Due to economic conditions, the companies were faced with a declining premium income, increase in moral hazard, and an increase in the number of fires due to the fact that industry in general is passing through a period of declining profits, which always results in lack of upkeep and lack of supervision as far as fire hazards is concerned."

"The statistics over a five-year period indicate that while 1921 was very unprofitable, the loss ratio in the preceding four years were such that an increase in fire rates is not necessary at this time."

"There are 243 life insurance companies doing business in Wisconsin. These companies write insurance on farm property within a restricted territory. Most of these companies operate on the purely assessment plan, making assessments each year to cover the losses. During the past year, about $2,000,000 of insurance was written, and the entire amount of insurance in force is approximately $50,000,000."

"There are 31 old line life insurance companies doing business in Wisconsin, writing approximately $9,000,000 of insurance during the past year, and nearly $700,000,000 of insurance in force."

"There are 70 fraternal societies licensed in this state, 21 of which are Wisconsin societies. During the past year nearly $12,000,000 of this type of insurance was written in this state and over $500,000,000 of fraternal insurance is in force."

"Besides the foregoing, there is a class known as casualty insurance. This includes all other lines than those above mentioned. In this class is automobile, health and accident, workmen's compensation, burglary, theft and other insurance of this character. Between $11,000,000 and $12,000,000 in premiums is collected for these different forms of casualty insurance."

CHAINS SON, 4, IN BARN; BREAD, WATER DIET
STON CITY, Iowa. Found guilty of chaining his 4-year-old son, John, to a rack in a deserted barn, Carl Grim's sentence was sentenced to serve thirty days in the county jail.

The sentence stipulates that during the first and last five days of the term, Grim's son shall be fed only bread and water.

The boy had run away from home to cover punishment for breaking an animal's headlight.

Police officers accidentally discovered the boy's predicament on Sunday.

GOMPERS HITS COAL PLAN
WASHINGTON, D. C.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, branded the report on the anthracite industry as a "conspiracy of 'compulsory labor' containing 'real penalties for miners but phantom penalties for operators'" and that the alleged plan is doomed to fail because it attempts to outlaw strikes.

"The older a man gets the more he hates to buy a new straw hat," said a man in a hat store.

The trip to Seward, where the president is to begin his tour of the inland Alaska railroad and highway that will bring him out again at Cordova, is expected to occupy three days.

Seward is on Resurrection bay, so named by the Russians because they discovered it on an Easter Sunday, and Cordova, outlet for Alaska's wealth of copper, is 200 miles east of Seward. Resurrection bay and Prince William sound are arms of the Gulf of Alaska.

Seward is the terminus of the old Alaska Northern railroad, which was purchased by order of former President Woodrow Wilson, as the first move in the construction of the government's Alaska railroad, reaching to Fairbanks, where by connection with the Yukon river system it has access to the interior of Alaska and Yukon territory, Canada.

A novelty for the summer resort is a red cotton umbrella bound with black, white and red and equipped with a short thick handle of black.

DEMOCRATIC VICTORY IN 1924 IS PREDICTED BY EX-NAVY CHIEF

Searcity of Candidates Forecasts Defeat of Party Claims Daniels

BOULDER, Col.—In addressing the Boulder Democratic club here Tuesday night Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the navy, declared "among many other signs pointing to a sweeping democratic presidential victory in 1924 is the fact that there are half a dozen able men contesting for the democratic nomination."

"The apparent hopelessness of the republicans," the former secretary continued, "is seen in the dwindling number of candidates for the republican nomination. Before the 1922 election foreshadowed republican defeat in 1924 their number was legion."

La Follette May be a Power. "They all now seem to have left the field to Mr. Harding, who hesitates to declare his candidacy unless Mr. La Follette throws his hat in the ring. If the Wisconsin senator helps to elect Magnus Johnson to the senate in Minnesota as he helped to overthrow the old guard in that state in 1922 he will have a great following."

"Who will receive the democratic nomination? At present it looks as though the contest will be hard fought. I am sure the decision next year will be as fortunate as in 1912 and our party will restore just, taxation, and excessive freight, secure larger markets, save the farmer from the distress of Harding's day, and find a way to secure world stability and world peace and right the wrongs."
